EDITORIAL:

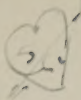

The Torch

THE "Torch," with its everlasting light, is a goal, which we, the Senior A's, have striven to attain. It symbolizes knowledge. It is the light from which the sparks of genius are constantly falling and whose soft glow illuminates the world. It signifies liberty, the dearest of all our possessions. Besides, it is the light which will be our guide through clouds of sorrow and billows of despair out into the glorious sunshine of true life.

The "Torch" has different meanings in the various periods of life. To the student in his first year it is a goal which causes him to strive to gain useful knowledge. Through the years that he is endeavoring to reach that goal, its glittering rays give him encouragement and instill new fight in him to "carry on." To the Senior B's it is a commendation that they are attaining their goal. To the Senior A's, however, the "Torch" appears in a nobler sense. Although they have kept it for a term and have passed it on to the Senior B's, they will never forget its lessons. To them, the same "Torch" is out in the world beckoning them and ready to lead them on to a new goal, accomplishment. When they have reached this goal, the "Torch" will then be in their hands for another period of time. This interval of striving will be more bitter and harder than any they have heretofore been through. To the aged man, however, when the end of life draws near, the light is softer and more mellow. Previously the light sparkled and shone brightly. Now its soft glow seems to him to be God's Light, telling him that his striving in this world is ended and that soon he will be in the land of the immortals, never again to seek the "Torch" but there to cherish and tend it evermore.

It is with these thoughts, that we, the Senior A's, bid goodbye to East Side, our Alma Mater, where we first gained knowledge of the "Torch."

JOHN BISKUP.

Class History

FRESHMEN

- Feb. Entered East Side. Had trouble with the lockers. John Kozloff encountered trouble with a red-headed fellow who looked like a Senior. Johnnie gave him a good battle (so he says.)
- Mar. Heard talk of a Freshman Frolic and the lollypops we would receive. Finally the "big" day came. Enjoyed the Frolic—but no Lollypops!
- Apr. Short Easter vacation—at least we got only one assignment in Latin for the ten days.
- May. Weather getting warmer. Saw the red headed fellow several times.
- June. Exams! Passed them. Planned our vacation.
- Sept. Returned from our restful (?) vacation and ready for work—even Joe Couto.
- Oct. Began to realize how History is; the marks on our cards showed it.
- Nov. Had to use the lockers. Began to "lose" locks again.
- Dec. Prepared for our Christmas vacation by doing less homework.
- Jan. Returned, only to find exams staring us in the face.

SOPHOMORES

- Feb. Sophomores!! Had Miss Cleary for a third term—this time for geometry.
- Mar. Heard Mr. Miller's jokes for the first time.
- Apr. Walter Ske'taitis absent on a certain day—said his grandmother died—(Bears started their season on said day.)
- May. Weather getting warmer—several members contracted "spring fever."
- June. Exams, exams and more exams!!!
- Sept. Henry Ozimek told us of his "true" vacation adventures.
- Oct. Disappointed that no Sophomores would be admitted to Senior Recognition.
- Nov. Saw Edward Kinney trying to get a strangle hold on the side horse in his first gym meet.
- Dec. Had more of Caesar! Several members of the class found how to trot along with Caesar—on "ponies."
- Jan. Work—more exams—promotion.

- Feb. Juniors!!! Felt ourselves equal to Seniors.
- Mar. Had our first glimpse of Senior "Rec"; poor Senior B's.
- Apr. Sophie De Martino getting up in the world—associating with a well-known football player.
- May. Joseph Quaas starts his famous blackboard drawings in Mr. Genzmer's room.
- June. Philip Knobel still retains his quietness.
- Sept. Returned full of pep—especially Knobel who argued with Miss Bernkopf about a broken seat—for one whole period!!

- Oct. Found out who that red headed fellow who looks like a Senior really is—none other than Franklyn Haug.
- Oct. 25 Robert Sessing holds famous conversation over the phone with Miss Kraemer. (Ask him about it.)
- Nov. Heard Leo Rapicka is on the gym team. Saw him get a half-nelson on the side horse in his first gym meet—he's still wondering what it was all about.
- Dec. Heard another of Mr. Haeseler's experiences when he visited his old home town.
- Jan. The wolf is at our door—Exams!!!

SENIORS

- Feb. Seniors at last!! Felt like a million dollars.
- Mar. Held class election with following results:
 - Henry Ozimek—president—promised the boys the return of good beer.
 - Carmel Zerbino—vice-president—no special method.
 - Frances Bernot—secretary—vamped the boys.
 - Edward Kinney—treasurer—not because of his honest looks.
 - Al Schusko—sergeant-at-arms—(sort of side issue.)
- Mar. 17 Wrecked by Juniors and how!! Mr. Lumb and Mr. Horwitz received their share of attention!
- Apr. Held our dancing classes weekly. Pete Marchak demonstrates how to become a "regular." Minute Movie—Al Schusko looking important at the door.
- April 23—Senior hike—enormous turnout (seven and a half).
- May 2—We still wonder why Coach Butterworth needs more than a catcher when "Farmer" Fields pitches.
- May 26—Decided to be different—held a Sport Hop instead of a regular prom.
- June 14—Heard news about a tennis team. Saw Peter Casale to be Ellsworth Vines 2nd.
- June 16—Half day school on account of heat. Saw several members play tennis in the afternoon.
- June 23—Studied hard (had to with Economics). Exams!
- June 26—P. K. knows all the answers to the Problems exam. (We wonder).
- June 30—Saw our cards. Promoted. Vacation ahead of us.
- Sept. Returned and ready to complete our 4 (?) years at East Side.
- Oct. Held 4A election:
 - Anthony Toto—president—promised "repeal".
 - Frances Bernot—vice-president—more vamping.
 - Ethel Schwartz—secretary—a secret method.
 - Edward Kinney—treasurer—(what a trusting class!).
 - Thomas Macek—sergeant-at-arms—his good looks did it.
- Oct. 9—We still wonder why Lou Mathes still thinks he can play football.
- Oct. 14—Seniors help wreck a goal post at Seton Hall.
- Oct. 31—Sat through newly dressed Senior "Rec!"
- Nov. Still busy with extra curricular activities.
- Dec. Wondered how we'd get our psychology essay finished. Bayer and Co. makers of aspirin report increase in sales. Year book about to be put on sale.
- Jan. Think of it—the big night! Graduation!!!

Class Prophecy

I FELT greatly excited as the Autogyro taxipiane let me off at the Newark Evening News Building. You see it was my first visit to Newark since I was graduated from East Side High in January 1934. And now it was the year 1954. My zeal to learn of my classmates led me to advertise in the personal columns of the News concerning their whereabouts.

As the clerk came towards me I started in surprise, surely it couldn't be—and yet—it was, Eleanor Engfer, my old classmate. She recognized me and after finding out why I was placing an ad, took me to the elevator, smiling slyly. The door opened and there stood Al Schusko, operator of the cage. On our way up he mentioned that he and "Fritzie" Bernot were married and had several "blessed events."

As we entered the editorial room I noticed a familiar figure sitting at a desk marked Editor-in-Chief. He had a big cigar stuck in the side of his mouth and looked a busy person, shouting into several telephones and trying to edit material at the same time. It was John Biskup, another classmate. He offered greetings and led me to a room marked, "DO NOT DISTURB". I opened the door and entered a smoke-filled room, pungent with the aroma of cheap cigars. Around a table sat the reporters, Willie Micchelli, Jr., John Wrubel, Vincent Pace, Albert Lupo, and Thomas Macek, playing stud poker. None of them dared raise his head when I came in for fear that the others would slip in a few cards. Wrubel dealt deftly and the betting rose. Micchelli raised until only Wrubel stood in. Willie showed three aces, Wrubel slammed his cards down and ejaculated, "You're gyping. I know every card I dealt you, and I never gave you an ace."

We succeeded in prying the boys apart while Pace filled his pockets with pennies. Then Macek offered to take me to a court case that he had to cover.

We arrived just as Judge Peter Marchak commenced the trial. The parties involved were plaintiffs, Peter Casale and wife, Anne Zucker; defendants, Joe Quaas, President, Phil Levant, Treasurer, and Ruth Freyberger, Secretary of the East Side Butter and Egg Works. The counsel for the defense were Connolly and Stengel. Anthony Amascato was lawyer for the plaintiffs. Anne's charge was that Joe Quaas and the others threw rotten eggs at Pete and her every morning as they entered their shop across the street from the dairy plant. Levant and Freyberger pleaded guilty, but begged clemency on the grounds that they did it because of Joe's orders.

His Honor, Judge Marchak, interrupted the questioning of Amascato to interrogate Joe himself. Joe said he got a great kick out of beaming people with rotten eggs. Then the judge said, (in Joe Penner's style) "Sy'at so," and clipped Joe right on the noodle with a rotten egg, declaring the case closed. (Must have been Anne's vamping that caused the Judge to take her side in the case.)

We were leaving the court house just as we saw police reserves headed by John Dolak and John Nalavany dragging Little (Caesar) Lesser and a few of his fellow communists to jail for staging a riot, resulting in the smashing of two windows in "Dot" Wickham's and Carmel Zerbino's beauty parlor.

Returning to the News office I met some more old "grads"—Lillian Close, the foremost lady photographer,—Lolien Schuldt and Charlotte Hoover, society news reporters.

We then boarded the incoming plane from Europe to interview some of the noted people. Prof. Rocco Senna, surgeon of international fame, was the first. He had just finished a five year study of Viennese Osteotomy and had come to the conclusion that the Persian sea cats have two more teeth in their upper jaw than the pussy willow. Carmella Pagano, celebrated opera singer, was also aboard the plane. She intended to make her debut at the Metropolitan Opera House and to open a fruit and vegetable store at the same time.

We then left for Independence Manor, where a party was to be tendered to Governor-Elect of New Jersey, Anthony Toto. It was stated that the new Governor had a bodyguard with him because of having received an anonymous threat. Police believe the threat had come from the reigning terror, King "Woppo" Alvarez. Anne White Kinney and Mary Fela Plenticash, leaders of the County Republican Club, sponsored the party. The toast master of the evening was Henry Ozimek, President of the Stuckum, Sticksem, Wiltstickem Brokers Company. The guests laughed when Emily Plachko poured the drinks; but when they drank the drinks, they died laughing.

The next day I went with Micchelli to see if we could interview Raymond Fink and Harry Feckanicz. Both men had collaborated in completing an equation of the fifth dimension which no one understood but themselves. Feckanicz claimed that he came upon it while eating spaghetti; as it threw a hue on the spectrum never seen before. Fink claimed it happened when he sat on a tack and saw stars in five dimensions.

The mention of spaghetti made me hungry; so I visited Joe Hakucha's Belevedere Tavern where the Tappa-Kegga-Beer Boys, Louis Mesz, Edward Cosenza and John Czudyk sang. Just as I was to eat my soup, I roared in disgust. The Olga Twins, Choma and Divorcain, immediately appeared at my table. "There's a fly in my soup," I criticized. Both answered in one voice, "What do you want for a nickel? Chicken?"

I opened the newspaper to find that the current amusements in the theatres were: Gail White's play, "Full of Prunes," starring Elmer Hess and Dorothy Shadis; and a gala stage show with Ann Belfatto, Edward Kinney and Kate Smith (Catherine) comedians; Elizabeth Scuurzo, pianist; Mollie Beliskowitz, torch singer; and the feature dancers, Mildred McCandless, Wanda Langendorf and Marie Greyenbiehler. I decided that I would buy tickets for Gail's play.

At the box office, where I found Goldie Zolin counting silver, I was informed that the show was a sellout. I was about to leave when Robert Sessing, the manager, and his wife, Veronica (nee Nitkiewitz), drove up in a Rolls Royce, chauffeured by Walter Skeistaitis. Bob arranged to get me two tickets for the loge. Since the play was not to begin for five hours I decided to telephotophone Ethel Schwartz, foremost radio program commentator, and ask her if I might visit the studio. She consented and we met at station E. S. H. S. of the Oriental Chain. The program on the air when we arrived was the "Ma" Trautman Doughnut hour. It was stated by Charles Fields, pitcher, Tony Biello, catcher, Victor Fernicola, first baseman, Manuel Kaiser, owner of the Newark Bears, that they ate Ma Trautman's doughnuts three times a day, giving them the necessary energy to win the pennant year after year. Howard Fuller, the most eloquent announcer on the entire chain, claimed that he ate the cookies, but that they could easily be substituted for dog biscuits. The next program was the Tigges Publishing Company in which Frances Cudyk, the book critic, reviewed the best sellers of the week. This week's best seller was "The School Girl of a Decade Ago," by Anne Eustachewich.

After I left the studio I dropped into the Ironbound Bank. The entire force was huddled around the desk of Thomas Calabrese, President. All were so busy arguing that they didn't notice me. From what I heard I surmised that Irene Pulelle and Jeanette Amiano, secretaries, were being persuaded to vamp the state bank examiners, Louis Abramson and Morton Cooper, so that they wouldn't audit the books. The reason was, the cashiers, Rapicka, Haug, and Kozloff, had embezzled $100,000 of the bank's money which could be replaced; but if the deed were exposed, it would ruin the bank. I ducked out for fear that they would give me counterfeit money in exchange for my check.

As I walked out several men grabbed me and tied me hand and foot. I saw they were Joe Couto, Joe Musyt, Phil Hennin, and George Gillingham, who pulled out a picture which I recalled George Akialis had drawn of me over ten years ago. Gillingham said, "The features of the face are blurred but I could recognize the nose anywhere." I protested as they chained me to a cot in an ambulance marked County Insane Asylum. The only consolation was the kind greeting of Betty Kalosy, the nurse. When we arrived I was dragged into the office where Jimmy Sanitate looked over my records and declared me completely insane and rang a bell. Sophie De Martino entered dressed as a nurse and took me to the incurable department.

This story would never have been written if Sophie and Betty had not gotten the keys of the gate from Jimmie and thus effected my escape.

East Side High

Words by ELI PICKWICK, JR.

Music by EMILY GUNN WILDER

*Come sing of the school we so gladly call ours.
That there is a better we stoutly deny.
Come sing loud and long and with all of our powers
The praise that belongs to our East Side High.*

*O cheer for our banner, the red and the white,
Our banner triumphant that flames in the sky,
And lift every cheer with our spirit and might,
A loud Rah! Rah! Rah! for our East Side High.*

*O march, heads erect, firm of tread, side by side,
O march for our school and its colors that fly,
With hearts all atune to our steps as we stride,
O march, proudly march, for our East Side High.*

Cross Country Team

Coach Mr. MOLLOY
Adviser Mr. MILLER

Alma Mater

*In the bustling city's bosom,
Like a gem most rare,
Shines the noblest of our treasures,
Shines our High School fair.*

*Hail, all hail, dear East Side High School,
Green thy memory be;
By the bond of happy hours
Are we bound to thee.*

*In the field, the hall, the city,
Loyal to thy name,
Be it ever our endeavor
Far to spread thy fame.*

*Down the vista may we see thee
Of advancing age,
Never dimmed though farther distant,
Youth's bright heritage.*

*Then unite in loyal praises,
Ere the glad days run,
In the world are many high schools,
In our hearts but ONE.*

JAMES H. TUCKLEY.

The Jolly Student

*You may talk about your Jersey schools,
Whatever ones you please,
Of Newark's crowd of jolly schools,
Whose banners kiss the breeze,
Of banners blue and banners gold and
Others bright and fair,
Of colors new and colors old applauded
Everywhere.*

*Glad echoes ring as loud we sing with Hearts and voices strong,
And spirits free all leap to see the colors
March along,
But among them all, whate'er befall, not
One of them can show
So brave, so true, so strong a crew of
Students as we know.*

CHORUS

*For we are jolly students of the red and White,
With all our might we fight beneath
Whatever sky,
Our stirring battle red with spotless
White is wed—
Rab! Rab! Rab! we are all from East Side High.*

EUGENE R. MUSGROVE.

The Boxing Match

THIS afternoon one of the greatest pugilistic bouts in history will take place. The Main match will be for the Championship of East Side High School between General Course, a Ehman from the Latin quarters; and Manual Training a machinist Fuller pep. Stan O'Graphy the Sutton boy will referee and I say Ta-bank-in for him a White decision.

The bell rings and the boys Roys-h in the first round. The army lad is Fast and lands a Tharp blow to Manual's jaw. Training Wades in and smacks the General with a blow that could Tuckley him to sleep.

The Ralston Cereal Company is providing a meal between rounds for advertisement. Manual's trainer asks him if he wants Wein ert does he Caf-ferty. Course says the Tea-sdale, but asks Hor-witz some coffee with a Lumb of sugar too. I don't know Webber they'll finish Eaton in five minutes or an hour, but I Finkel have a Lang-glass of milk.

Stan O'Graphy tests them in mathematics while eating. The problem is, If Pease cost 10c a pound, how much is Butter-worth? If either Wilmot be able to answer, I'll try. They've decided to resume the battle and the gong rings for the next round. The previous round has had injurious effects on the battlers, the cadet's eyes are almost closed and he can't see Cleary. His opponent, also had the Hecht knocked out of him.

The West Pointer swings a smashing right to Manual's chin, who retaliates with two short jabs to the heart. Both fighters fell like Stones and are out Cole. The Championship remains officially untouched, but the shadow of the great G. C. remains in the eyes of many as the winner.

PHILIP KNOBEL.

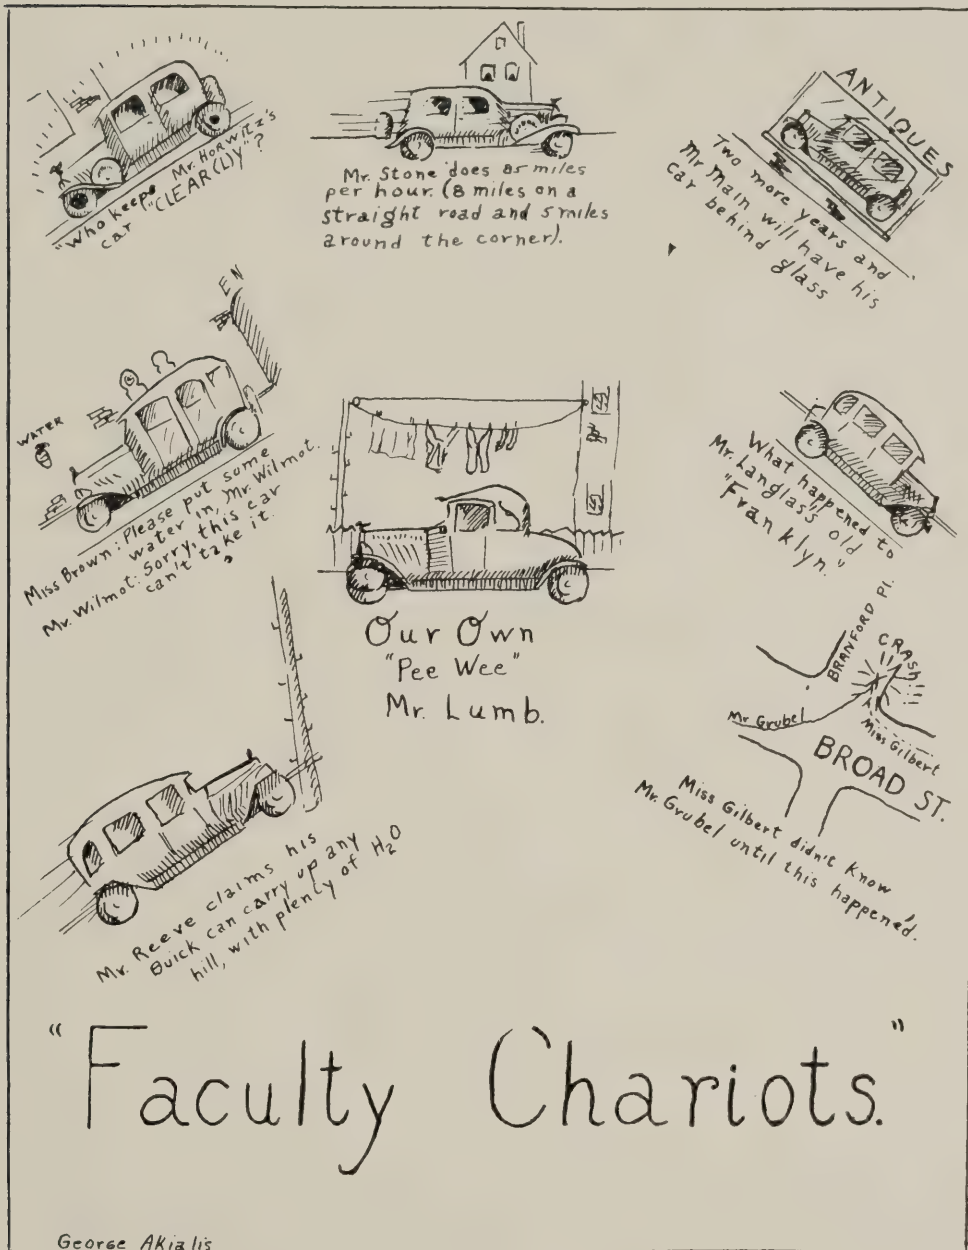

The Lonely Traveler

*Look at the man who plods across the field;
How sad he looks with lips so tightly sealed.
Maybe it's sadness makes him look like that,
Or grief that makes him crouch beneath his hat.*

*Maybe he's thinking of the long ago,
When voices of his children cheered him so
When home and happiness went hand in hand
And he was happiest in all the land.*

*Old man, your life will never be in vain,
You yet may see your lost loved ones again;
Press on until you reach the blissful shore,
Where you shall dwell in love forever more.*

JAMES H. FULTZ, JR.

We Propose A Toast To:

Gail White's superb vocabulary.
Evelyn Zusi's charm.
Peter Marchak's hearty laugh.
Mr. Lumb's sportsmanship.
John Wrubel's daintiness.
Fred Stengel's decision to let his feet invite his pants down.
The three girls and eighteen boys who supported 4A picnics.
Anthony Toto, surviving the fall in the water.
Philip Knobel really lights a fire with little paper.
Anne Zucker's winning personality.
Peter Casale's timidity.
Anne Belfatto's ability.
Miss Gilbert's lovely disposition.
Miss Raleigh's dizzy dances.
Our fine Editor-in-chief, John Biskup.

Miss Kartluka: "Charles, correct this sentence: It was me who busted the test tubes."

Demski: "It wasn't me who busted the test tubes."

Mr. Lumb: "You seem to sign your own report cards, Fred?"

Stengel: "Oh, I'm twenty-one."

Revised Proverbs

Look before you cheat.

He that flunks and knows his bizz lives to flunk another quizz.

Procrastination is the sign of the times.

If at first you do not win, date, date, and date again.

All are not girls that giggle.

He who hesitates is the boss.

A miss is as good as her environment.

Love suppereth long and he that dines her must pay the pieman.

We Wonder Why:

Kinney still insists the girl at the Senior Recognition is his sister.
Lillian Close denies her affections for Peter Marchak.
Anne Zucker and John Wrubel are seen together too often.
George Akialis talks incessantly about his wife.
Ruth Freyberger and Anne White always discuss Ray and Roy.
Evelyn Zusi and Phil Levant are so friendly.
Senior girls were so anxious to be in Mr. Hecht's advertising class.
The 4B President danced so often with Loliene Schuldt at Senior Recognition.
Al Schusko doesn't care for Frances Bernot any more.
Seniors sign their own report cards.
Anne Zucker receives so many letters from Paul Opanowitz.

Ann Belfatto talks "society."

Dignity is one thing that can't be preserved in alcohol.
A lot of fellows are caught in the act who are not vaudeville performers.
A hick town is one where there is no place to go that you shouldn't.
The tattooed lady lost her job because nowadays people want talking pictures.

Prof.: "Robert Burns wrote 'To a Fieldmouse'."
Voice (from rear of room): "Did he get an answer?"

"Are you a good sport?"
"Yes."
"Then let me lean against you."

First Roommate: "Where's my golf socks?"
Second Roommate: "What golf socks?"
First Roommate: "The ones with eighteen holes."

Talk among the seniors during Sec. Prac. class about photos:

Ann W.: "Oh they're beautiful. I only wish mine would come out half as well."
Irene P.: "I think they're terrible."
Z.: "He wouldn't let me smile because I crinkle up my eyes."
Mary T.: "I'm going for a resitting."
Emily P.: "We all can't be Garbos or Crawford's so why worry?"

Twenty-Four Hours

*Wherefore this heavy stillness in the air?
No song of bird, no wind to break the bush,
But of a sudden, faintly in the East
There comes a ray of light, a rosy blush.*

*Now on the threshold of a radiant day,
The sun comes slowly creeping thro' the haze;
First gently, then a flood of shimm'ring fire
That bathes all sleeping Nature in its rays!*

*"Awake, you rested mortals! To your moil;
To slave, to labor,—but for what? I ask
What is this love of work—of manly brawn
That beckons ev'ry toiler to his task?"*

*Like honey-bees around the fruitful comb
The sons of Nature strive to gain their ends;
The bustle and the rush of busy men
Are but the outward signs of mental trends.*

*At last the sinking sun has stopped all toil—
For ev'ry task must have an end, they say—
And eve is but the sweeter for the peace
That welcomes man and beast at close of day.*

*Sweet, restful Night, how soothing is thy calm;
Despatch all worries from the weary mind.
Tomorrow brings new problems to be solved—
Until the sun, then, brush all care behind!*

By ETHEL SCHWARTZ.

Personals

Evelyn and Phil make an ideal couple.
George Gillingham training for cross country in his red flannels or something.
Tommy Calabrese bossing 4A football players on picnic.
The girls were marked off if they peeked at a performance given by John Dolak and Peter Marchak. Can you imagine the nerve?
Ralph Lesser always playing with something annoying on his desk during Problems.
Was Mr. Miller's face red when he condemned Ruth Freyberger for not knowing her civics? Little did he realize he was condemning himself.
Did you ever see Henry Ozimek play football, girls? A future star.
Anne Belfatto and Mike T. are seen together quite frequently.
Anne Zucker going to the East Side-West Side game with a West Side fellow.
Peter Casale denies his affections for a certain fair senior belle.

We wonder why

Manual Kaiser tries to do the glide in Machine Operation class.
Kinney tries to get in good with Miss Ferguson.
Leo makes eyes at Cleo.
Frances Bernot is always laughing.
Robert Sessing is always buying a "yatcht."

Ann B.: "Kinney an athlete?"
Mary F.: "Of course, didn't you ever see him working on the horse?"
Ann B.: "Oh! that's nothing, I can work on horses too."

• • •
Mr. Molloy: "What generals crossed the Geo. Washington bridge?"
Mr. Miller: "Washington and you."
Mr. Molloy: "No, Washington and Howe (and how)."

• • •
Mr. Miller enjoyed the tax drive but doesn't want the officials at city hall to know it for fear he will have to collect next year's taxes.

Miss Kartluke: "What's the name of a Western Movie?"
Carmel Zerbino: "Cavalcade."

Who do you think you are?
Just a little dandruff trying to get ahead.

Marie: "Now that's the kind of a fellow I could fall for."
Emily: "Yeah, I know. The funny kind."

You got a pretty face (pretty ugly).

Famous Sayings

- Al Schusko: "Why is it only the short girls are willing to dance with me?"
Lillian Close: "Isn't Pete Darling?"
John Wrubel: "Don't never do that."
Anne Belfatto: "Joe is adorable but Mike gets me too."
Sam Eagle: "Why are all the girls so crazy about me? Do you think it's my personality?"
Anne Zucker: "How does your ankle feel today, John Dolak?"
Anthony Toto (Holding out a blank sheet of paper): "This is a picture of a swan eating marshmallows in the snow."
Dorothy Wickham: "I think you 4A's are all a bunch of slackers."
Philip Knobel: "Oh! You nasty woman."
Evelyn Zusi: "If I take Biology another day, I think the bugs will surely get me."
Anne White: "Gosh I'm always getting the blame for Gail. I wish my name were a different color."
Irene Pulelle: "Have you seen Charlie around?"
Peter Marchak: "Of course it's not serious. She's just a friend."
Dorothy Shadis: "Don't you think this picture of me is cute?"
Gail White: "Gee, why won't all the women let me be."
Philip Levant: "Oh, you cute little rascal."
Franklyn Haug: "Me, take detention! Only if Miss Kraemer is absent."
Henry Ozimek: "Don't any more seniors want to visit the Morgue? If so, please see Miss Roys before it's too late."
Edward Kinney: "Gee, I think my treasurer's account is all flooey."
John Biskup: "Will all you budding poets kindly contribute stories or poems to the year book?"

Epilogue

"We must go alone."—EMERSON.

OUR life confronts us. School is the preliminary training for life. Graduation from high school, for most of us, concludes this period of training. We must now face life by ourselves, unaided.

We are not totally unprepared for life, however, for during our stay at East Side we have acquired knowledge which will prove helpful and beneficial. History has taught us of great men and their activities in the world. Through English we have become acquainted with poets, writers and essayists. The lives and work of these men have stimulated ours, and have inspired in our souls a thirst for knowledge, truth and beauty. Commercial subjects have directly informed some of the workings of the business world. Others have learned to use their hands to advantage in the shops. In the near future, all this knowledge will be valued in terms of making a living.

Our character has also been improved in school. We have come to think of others, not only of ourselves. We have learned what honor and school-spirit mean. Respect for our teachers and loyalty to the school have also been born in us.

To both Mr. Pickwick, our retired principal, and to Mr. Ralston, our new principal, we express our gratitude for the encouragement they have given us in time of need. To us, they were representatives of the business world into which we are now entering. They gave us advice on how to overcome the hindrances which we shall encounter in that world. They have pointed out the road to success. For this, they are more than deserving of our humble thanks.

To Mr. Leonard Lumb, our beloved class adviser, we express our appreciation for the time and strength he has spent trying to make our work successful. Wherever we shall go, and whatever we shall undertake, our hearts and thoughts shall always turn back to the years we spent at East Side. But, before we depart, we hope that those who follow us will carry East Side on to honor and glory just as we have tried to do.

THOMAS J. MACEK.

CHARACTERISTICALLY DIFFERENT!

From the earliest days when man first recorded his impressions by arduous carving in stone, the inherent faculty of true craftsmanship manifested itself. Among the relics of the early stone carvers can be found outstanding examples of characteristic difference—distinctive ability that was the forerunner for the artist and the craftsman of today.

¶ And just as primitive recordings in stone show varying degrees of superiority, so does a Colyer-produced Annual stand out distinctive of the full possibilities of the highly-developed graphic arts of today.

A SCHOOL OF BUSINESS TECHNOLOGY

Pace Institute is a school of business technology in which a high-school graduate— young man or young woman—may receive preparation for accountancy, business administration, secretarial practice, shorthand reporting, advertising, or selling. Shorthand speed classes are provided for students who desire to develop speed. Daytime classes are provided in secretarial practice, accountancy, and business administration, and evening classes are provided in these subjects and all others offered by the Institute.

Classroom study in the Day School Division of Pace Institute is supplemented by field trips to the offices and plants of many of the largest organizations in New York and vicinity. Students are thus enabled to observe and study at first hand the work procedures of progressive organizations.

The general bulletin of the school and special booklets with respect to various courses are available upon request. In making request specify subjects of study in which you are interested. Inquire of the Registrar by personal call, by letter, or by telephone, Barclay 7-8200.
